OPENING OF THE FRENCH SALON. Great Artistic Event of the Year in Paris-

Improvements in the Louvre. Paris, May 1 .- The salon in the Champs Elysees is open. Yesterday was "varnishing day," and, as usual, all Paris turned out. Distinguished painters, sculptors, authors, composers, actors and politicians crowded the long galleries and squares while the spring gowns and bonnets-many of them got up for this special occasion-of the ladies rivaled, in the bright colors, the pictures on the walls and attracted as much attention. Everybody admired the innovations of this year's salon. many of which were copied from or suggested by the Champ de Mars salon of last summer. But one picture is hung this year in the landing at the head of the grand stone stair-case, where formerly pieces of pictures were displayed.

Now, with this single exception, tapestries cover the stone walls of this entrance chamber. Thence you pass by a single door-there used to be three-into the usual great square room, "The salon of hopor." To the left of this room on entering are now long galleries, side by side, instead of the half dozen small rooms of former days. These small rooms now lie between the salon of honor and the long corresponding salon at the northwest corner of Palaise l'Industrie.
Two more long galleries are found in that portion of the building parallel to the Cours la Reine. Adjoining them, in the southwest corner of the Palais, is the most radical innovation, borrowed bodily from the Champ de Marseyval. Here is a fine, large square room, entirely devoid of pictures, but comfortably, even elegantly, furnished, and brightened by a large window, which looks out on the flower-beds, the greensward and rows of freshly-leaved trees lying between the Palais and the Seine. This is the salon. the drawing-room which was crowded to sufficiation all yesterday afternoon. Opening from it is a buffet, which is sure to be a boon this summer to many a weary visitor. Still another room deserves mention, especially as it was greatly admired yesterday. At the head of the wooden staircase which leads up from the sculptures in the garden is now one great square salon (where last year were three or four small, stuffy rooms) approached from the landing by an immense wide deorway. A vast canvas, nearly covering the whole of the north side of this room, greets the eye of the visitor as he enters from the stair-landing. This innovation was pronounced most happy by every body, for at this point in the old salon the two currents of visitors, one entering from the garden of sculpture, and the other passing from one end to the other of the picture exhibition, used to become greatly entangled. Yesterday, notwithstanding the overcrewding characteristic of the vernissage, there was no crush at this point, and the rather weary people from below were encouraged to continue their sight-seeing. The fresh painting of all the walls in dark brick-red and harmonious colors; the improved system of lighting, and the theat, white canvas in large squares, which formed the ceilings, were other improvements that met with great

THE IRISH QUARREL.

It Comes to the Surface in a Lively Scene in the House of Commons.

LONDON, May 1.-The debate on the government lrish land-purchase bill was continged in the House of Commons to-day. Several members of the Irish party, which acknowledges Mr. McCarthy as its leader continued to discuss the proposed amendments to the bill. After they had carried on their discussion for some little time Mr. Parnell arose from his seat and, addressing his remarks to the Irish members, advised them, in view of the conciliatory attitude of the government, to confine their debate to the important points of the measure in order that the bill might pass the House more quickly.

In response to Mr. Parnell's advice Mr. Timothy Healy, who is one of Mr. Parnell's bitterest political opponents, retorted that Mr. Parnell had been repudiated as representing Ireland, and he declared that he would not be guided by any directions given by Mr. Parnell. Mr. Fitzgerald, replying to Mr. Healy, said that Irishmen still recognized Mr. Parnell as their representative, and that they would never be guided by Mr. Sexton or Mr. Healy.

After this little encounter had been concinded Mr. Parnell said he was quite indif-ferent to what Mr. Healy might say. He, however, must state what he thought was best for Ireland, with no regard as to whether his statements exasperated Mr. Healy or not. This interchange of views osing Irish members creat ed quite a lively scene in the House, and elicited cheering and counter-cheering from the supporters of the members as they freely expressed their opinions for or against Mr. Parnell as the Irish leader.

LILIUOKALANI TALKS.

Thinks the Rejection of the New Treaty Would Ruin American Interests in Hawait. SAN FRANCISCO, May 1.-A Honolulu special quotes Queen Liliuokalani as stating that in the event of rejection of the proposed new treaty between Hawaii and the United States commerce between the two countries would greatly diminish, and eventually pass out of American control. "The greater part of our provisions, machinery, lumber, hardware and numerous other commodities," said the Queen, "will be rendered less profitable by the action of the American people, and practically ruin permanent investments now owned here by hundreds of American citizens. These investments are very large and valuable, cer-tainly exceeding $15,000,000, and are largely increasing every year." Queen Liliuokalani intimated that Minister Carter would resign his post at Washington owing to the fact that his sympathy was with the Americans, not with the islands. Speaking of congressional action on the surveys for a cable between San Francisco and Honolulu the Queen said the cable would be of inestimable benefitto the islands.

RELIGIOUS RIOT.

Ionian Christians Pillage the Hebrew Quarter at Zante-Fired Upon by Soldiers. ATHENS, May 1 .- A dispatch from Zante. capital of the Ionian island of that name, brings news of a serious religious riot which has taken place there. To-day is observed by the Greek Christians as the Greek Good Friday, and part of the ceremonies of the day consisted of a procession of Christians, who marched through the principal streets. The processionists, however, were not contented with a demonstration. When they neared the quarter of Zante which is known as Hebrew quarter, the Christians practically besieged that section of the town. In order to guard against just such an occurrence a cordon of soldiers had been drawn around the Hebrew quarter, and upon the refusal of the Christians to retire in peace the soldiers fired on them, killing and wounding several people. The Christians, the dispatch adds, are now pillaging the houses of the Hebrews at Zante, and threaten to burn the Jewish quarter of the town. It is supposed that the disturbances at Zante have their origin in the disturbance which recently occurred

He denies the Porte's recent assertion of power to take up a question which is not a political but merely a mercantile matter.

GENERAL FOREIGN NEWS. Extraordinary Case of Train-Robbery i

Austria-Two Passengers Killed. VIENNA, May 1 .- A passenger, traveling from Cracow to Lemburg, last night, in an express train, suddenly drew two revolvers and, with one in each hand, demanded of his three fellow-travelers in the same carriege their money and valuables. A frightful struggle ensued in the narrow compartment. Although the men assailed were unarmed they fought with desperation The ruffian used his revolvers with effect, killing two of the men in succession. The third passenger grappled closely with the assassin, who fired in vain, being unable to touch him. Having emptied all the chambers of his revolvers the assassin tore himself from the grasp of his antagonist, burst open the car-door and jumped from the train while it was going at full speed. No traces of the miscreant could be discovered.

An International Dispute. LONDON, May 1.-A dispute has arises between the Balmaceda government and Great Britain involving a point of international law. It seems that two officers proscribed by the Balmaceda government took refuge in the British legation at Santiago, that Chilian troops promptly surrounded the legation to capture the officers, and the British minister refused to surrender the fugitives and protested against the violation of the rights of residence. The Foreign Office, after consulting precedents, supports the minister, and dispatches have been sent to Santiago to warn Balmaceda of Great Britain's decision.

Train Through a Bridge. LONDON, May 1 .- An accident occurred to-day to a railroad train loaded with "city men," business men whose occupation takes them to the city of London. The train in question is known as the Brighton express and was crowded with business men or their way from Brighton to London. While crossing the bridge at Marwood, in Surrey six miles south of London, the bridge suddenly collapsed and the six rear cars fell through and were smashed to atoms. Many of the passengers were injured, but so far as known there will be no loss of life through the accident.

Bismarck Elected. BERLIN, May 1 .- As the later returns of the bye election at Gestemunde come in they show that the return of Prince Bismarek to the Reichstag is now certain, as it will be impossible for Herr Schwalfeld, his Socialist opponent, in the districts not heard from to overcome the present majority given to Prince Bismarck. The returns show that Prince Bismarck has received about ten thousand votes, and Herr Schwalfeld about five thousand six hundred.

THE RITES AT THE GRAVE.

Funeral of Elizabeth M. Steele Whose Beauti ful Life Was So Early Closed.

The burial of Elizabeth M. Steele oc curred yesterday afternoon at Crown Hill Cemetery, the service taking place at the residence of her father, No. 264 East St. Clair street. There gathered many sorrowing friends who knew so well the young life that brought sunshine and love wherever it entered in the home circle, the school and the walks of her father's daily business and association. Flowers befitting the simplicity of her nature were sent in profusion, and the music was so much like that which Lizzie would have enjoyed that every strain seemed to carry a recollection of the bright girl whose womanhood was to have been pure as the lilies that lay upon her casket. The Rev. O. C. McCulloch conducted the ceremony, which was touching with pathos, impressive in the reading of the beautiful lines of James Whitcomb Riley and eloquent in the pastor's tribute to the virtue, kindliness and love of the beautiful girl. Lizzie's classmates of the Girls' Classical School were there with their tears and sorrowing hearts. They had during the day joined with the advance classes of that institution in an impressive service in memory of the dear one. Mrs. Sewell, in the course of these exercises, read the newspaper notices kind remarks of the aweet life that had

PACIFIC METROPOLIS

Receives the President and His Party with an Enthusiastic Ovation.

Profusion of Flowers and Music-General Harrison Talks Business to the Merchants -Big Banquet in the Evening.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 1 .- President Harrison received an enthusiastic welcome at Santa Cruz, this morning, on the way to this city. He was given a reception at the Pacific Ocean Hotel, where he delivered a short address. After reviewing the school children and Grand Army veterans, the party was taken to Big Trees in a special train, and on returning to Santa Cruz resumed their journey to San Francisco. The next stop was at Los Galos, where the President was escorted to a decorated stand near the railroad track and made a brief speech. The party then left for San Francisco. When the ferry-boat reached the landing on this side of the bay, shortly before noon, a committee of citizens, headed by Mayor Sanderson, met the party with carriages, and the President, Postmastergeneral and Secretary Rusk were taken to the rooms of the Chamber of Commerce, while others of the party proceeded to the Palace Hotel, where they had lunch. The rooms of the Chamber of Commerce in the Merchants' Exchange were tastefully decorated with streamers of red, white and blue, while American flags were grouped on the walls and above the President's chair. The exterior of the block was also handsomely decorated. A dense crowd cheered the President as he alighted from his carriage at the entrance, and a band, stationed in the corridor, struck up "Hail to the Chief." The President, accompanied by a committee of business men, ascended to the rooms of the chamber, followed by members of the commercial organizations of the city and of Mexican veterans, California pioneers, scientific and other associations. President Taylor, the Chamber of Commerce, then delivered an address of welcome, to which the President replied as follows:

"Mr. President, and Gentlemen of these Assembled Societies—I have been subjected during my stay in California, in some respects, to the same treatment that a policeman accords to a tramp-I have been kept moving on. [Laughter and applause.] You have substituted flowers and kindness for the policeman's club, and yet, notwithstanding all this, we come to you this morning not exhausted or used up, but a little fatigued. Your cordial greetings are more exhilarating than your wine, and perhaps safer for the constitution. [Laughter.]
"I am glad to stand in the presence of this assemblage of representative men. I have tried to make this a business administration. Of course, we can't wholly seperate politics from the national adminis tration; but I have felt that every public officer owed his best service to the people without distinction of party; that in administering official trusts we were, in a very strict sense—not merely in a figurative sense—your servants. It has been my desire that in every branch of the public service there should be improvement. I have stimulated all secretaries and have received stimulus from them, in endeavoring in all departments of the government that touch your business life to give you as perfect service as possible. [Cries of 'Good, good,' and applause.] This we owe to you, but if I were pursuing party ends I should feel that I was by such methods establishing my party in the confidence of the people. [Applause.] I feel that we have come to a point where American industries, American commerce and American influence are to be revived and extended. Applause. The American sentiment and feeling was never more controlling than now, and I don't use that term in a narrow sense of the native American, but to embrace all loyal citizens, whether nativeborn or adopted, who have love of our flag in their hearts. [Great cheering.] "I shall speak to-night, probably, at a banquet of the business men, and will not enter into any lengthy discussion here. In-deed, I am careful not to trespass upon any forbidden topic that I may not in a small degree offend those who have forgotten party politics in extending this greeting to ns, and I do not know how far I should talk upon these public questions. But since your chairman has alluded to them. can say I am in hearty sympathy with the suggestions he has made. [Applause.] I believe there are methods by which we shall put the American flag upon the sea again. [Applause.]

"In speaking the other day I used an illustration which will, perhaps, be apt in this company of merchants. You recall all of you, certainly those of my age, the time when no merchant sent out a traveling man. He expected buyers to come to his store. Perhaps that was well enough, but certain enterprising men sought custom by putting traveling men with samples on the road. However the conservative merchant regarded that an innovation, he had but one choice, to put traveling men on the road or go out of business. In this question of shipping we are in a similar congreat commercial govdition. ernments of the world have stimulated their shipping interests direct or indirect subsidies, while we have been saying, 'No, we prefer the old way. We must advance or, I will not say go out of business, for we have already gone out. [Applause.] I thank you most cordially for your greeting and bid you good-bye." [Ap-

Postmaster-general Wanamaker and Secretary Rusk were then called on for speeches and responded in a vein that elicited much laughter and applause. After lunch the party proceeded to Mechanics' pavilion, where the May-day festival of the Grand Army posts of the city was in progress. The banquet at the Palace Hotel, to-night, in bonor of President Harrison, was attended by 250 guests. The affair was conducted on an elaborate scale and was the closing feature of President Harrison's visit to this city. On the table occupied by the President was a bank of roses fifteen feet high and three feet wide. The other tables were also lecorated with a large number of flowers. The menu cards were beautifully engraved and contained representations of various points of interest in California. The principal speech of the evening was made by

BOARD OF PUBLIC WORKS.

Morning Spent in Hearing Petitions and Remonstrances Relating to Streets and Sewers.

At the meeting of the Board of Public Works yesterday morning C. A. Bookwalter asked it to modify its rule that no street shall be made with any material that cannot be swept. He gained permission to have the streets in Kenwood addition of gravel, but they are to be improved at the expense of his real-estate company. The board also decided that where the streets are a long distance from asphalted of Lizzie's death, along with Mr. Riley's are a long distance from asphalted poem. She supplemented this with many or paved streets, and the propertyowners desire to improve them at their own expense, they may do so with gravel. A. F. Remonstrators against the improvement with brick of St. Joe street, between Alabama and Pennsylvania streets, were given a hearing. Nearly all the residents on one of the two squares object, but constitute less than half of those interested. The board concluded to defer final action. WELCOME TO A PASTOR.

Buchtel, of Central-Avenue Church, Greeted with the Best Assurances of Regard.

A very hearty welcome was given by the people of the Central-avenue M. E. Church to Rev. Henry A. Buchtel, D. D., their new pastor, last night. The church was filled with members and friends of the congregation, the Rev. Dr. Gobin, of DePauw University, presiding. After singing by the choir and audience, and prayer by the presiding elder, Rev. Dr. M. E. Dashiell, the chairman, in a feeling speech, welcomed the new pastor, his wife and two children, Frost and Emma. Dr. Gobin was followed by Rev. Dr. Van Anda, of Roberts Park M. E. Church, who spoke on behalf of the Methodist Ministers' Association and the Southeast Indiana Conference. His remarks were very felicitous, and in closing he said: "We need in this city a renewal of religion. We hope that by the blessing of God we shall by Dr. Buchtel be stimulated into more activity and blessed work; that the fires of revival, as our forefathers saw them burn, will kindle on the altars of all our churches and flame in all our hearts.' "I take great pleasure," said Rev. Dr. M. L. Haines, of the First Presbyterian Church, "in the name of the ministers of companionship and fellowship. I understand he was born in Ohio, but came to Inlana when but one year old, thus rectily ing the mistake as early as it was possible. Indiana may claim him as one of her sons come home again. I am glad that in the providence of God we have been able to demand of the striking allure you from the footbills of the Rockies and bring you to your native heath. I verily believe you were predestined to come to this church. The officers and members were determined to have you here, and it was Dr. John Clark Ridpath, of Greencastle, was called upon by Dr. Gobin to make a few remarks. "It is now nearly nineteen years," said Dr. Ridpath, "since Dr. Buchtel was graduated at Asbury University, but during this interval I have watched his progress with enthusiasm and confidence. In an experience which has covered more than twenty years of teaching I never had a young man in my class of a more lovable spirit, more generous nature, larger intellectual aspirations than he who comes to-night to this pastorship. He was always first in good work and good study. Dr. Buchtel's great talents were his own and born with him. The real man is that thinking, loving, aspiring gentleman which no teacher can give and can only feebly model. I welcome you to Hoosierdom again, and contemplate a long and useful career for you in this city." "I will now say to Dr. Buchtel," said Dr. Gobin, "that all the barrels of this revolver

this city, in welcoming Dr. Buchtel to our

are empty." This sally was received with much laughter, as the Doctor addressed came forward to speak. "Mr. Chairman and my good friends," he said, "I am greatly obliged for all the gracious and kindly feeling here manifested. I have known something of this congregation for a long time and have known most of your pastors. I am glad to come to a church that has made such a glorious record, where for a few months you have had a minister only on Sunday. I must express the hope that this spirit will continue. I know I shall have the hearty co-operation of this congregation. I know the stuff that is in you, and the minister who serves here caunot expect anything less than a prosperous pastorate. I have preached in this city a number of times years ago. Here are triends of my boyhood and fellow-students, and I feel that I am with the friends I have known

Capt. Eli F. Ritter then, on behalf of the congregation, presented a fine gold-headed cane to Dr. Gobin, who was wholly taken by surprise. The Captain paid a splendid compliment to Mr. W. V. Wheeler, who, while the church was without a pastor, had done much good missionary labor, the effect of which had been felt in the church. At the conclusion of the speeches Dr. and Mrs. Buchtel were introduced to the greater part of the audience, who gave them the hand of fellowship and welcome.

SONS OF AMERICA.

They Organize a State Camp with Much to Encourage Progress of the Order.

A State Camp of the Patriotic Order Sons of America was organized yesterday in the Block. Forty-two delegates from the eighteen camps over the State were present with H. T. Ellis, of Connersville, as chairman, and Will A. Eshback, of Indianapolis, secretary. The forenoon session was largely of an informal character, in receiving and greeting delegates. The various committees were appointed, and early in the afternoon the delegates were called to order, to hear reports from them. The election of State officers, the next order of business, resulted as fol-

A great deal of enthusiasm was manifested at the prosperous condition of the order. A new lodge will be instituted next week at Anderson. It is expected, the delegates say, that the next camp will attract three times as many delegates.

LOCAL BASE-BALL

Members of the Three Y. M. C. A. Clubs Want to Talk with Mr. Shaffer,

There was a meeting at the Y. M. C. A rooms last evening of the representatives of the three ball clubs already organized. After some discussion it was decided to take no further action until after a meeting was had with President Shaffer the directors of the association next Tuesday night. At this meeting the boys will make a proposition to the gentlemen who direct the affairs of the Y. M. C. A., which will be in effect that if they are to continue the league the proposed new park must be fenced, and a roomy club-house built. An offer has been made to the leading players in the league to rent the Seventh-street grounds for them every Saturday if they will organize two good teams and play there Saturday afternoons. The receipts are to be appled, first to the payment of rent and other expenses, and the bal-ance is to be divided among the players.

In the Spring

Nearly everybody needs a good medicine. The impurities which have accumulated in the blood during the cold months must be expelled, or when the mild days come and the effect of bracing air is lost the body is liable to be overcome by debility or some serious disease. The remarkable success of Hood's Sursaparilla, and the universal praise it has received, make it worthy your confidence. It is the "ideal Spring Medicine." Try it this season.

AFFAIRS OF LABOR. The Tinners Have a Strike in Addition

Their Lock-Out.

The Tinners' Union yesterday called out the men working for P. M. Purcell, who are on a strike, while a jority of those who determined upon action are locked out. is for an eight-hour day, with the pay of nine hours, which was the scale of 1890. There seems no present prospect of a settlement of the lockout or strike, and the union men are seeking work in other cities. Five report they have accepted work in Peoria, nine are going to Cincinnati, and a number will go to Chicago. Their intention is to force a settlement by creating a scarcity of tinners in the city.

Strike of Stone-Cutters. The stone-cutters at Gath & Coleman's marble-works went on a strike yesterday morning owing to a refusal of the firm to comply with demands of the Marble and Granite-cutters' Union. This union was recently organized, and at once presented a scale calling for an eight-hour day, standard wages and certain trade regulations. All the other employing firms of the city have signed the agreement.

Board of Health Matters. The Board of Health met yesterday and audited and allowed the City Hospital bills. Chief Clerk Ripley reported that the report of the City Dispensary for the menth of April showed 663 patients treated. 1,462 prescriptions filled, four births attended, and 13 death reports signed by the internes. The sanitary officers reported 725 inspections, 399 nuisances abated, and 327 contagious diseases. Aberdeen-Angus Cattle. On next Tuesday a sale of Aberdeen-Angus cattle will be held at the Union stockyards in this city, being a draft from the Sugar Grove Blooded-stock Farm of John J. Cooper. Four years ago Mr. Cooper purchased the entire herd from the Indiana Blooded-stock Company, and this is his first public sale, which will be conducted by Col. J. W. Judy.

ACTUALLY WORLD-WIDE, A Sweeping Extension.

By change made in the last edition, all ac ident policies of the Travelers' are made entirely world-wide, all limitation on resi dence or travel, save exploring expeditions uncivilized countries, being removed practice the limitation has been very slight for years past, a free permit having been issued for almost every civilized point to which a policy-holder wished to go; but it is now embodied in the policies, making those of the Travelers' the best in the world. The extensions of benefit under them for years past has been wide and steady. and a policy-holder receives so much more for his money than ten years ago that it is equivalent to a heavy reduction in price.

Head, Arms, and Breast a Solid Scab Cured by Cuticura Remedies at a Cost of $3.75.

I used two bottles of the Cuticura Resolvent hree boxes of Cuticura, and one cake Cuticura Soap and am cured of a terrible skin and scalp disease known as psoriasis. I had it for eight years. It would get better and worse at mes. Sometimes my head would be a solid seal and was at the time I began the use of the Cuti cura Remedies. My arms were covered with scabs from my elbows to shoulders, my breast was almost one solid scab, and my back covered with sores varying in size from a penny to a dol lar. I had doctored with all the best doctor with no relief, and used many different medicine without effect. My case was hereditary, and ARCHER RUSSELL, Deshler, Ohio.

Prairie Scratches. Two years ago a form of skin disease was prevalent in this vicinity, and variously named "prairie digs," "scratches," etc., but was probably better named simple itch. From my own experience I can say that two bottles of Cuticura Resolvent, six boxes of Cuticura and two cakes of Cuticura Soap effected a cure for a family of seven, and there has been no return of the disease.

A. B. PEACOCK, Wa Keeney, Kan.

Could not Scratch Enough I used one box of Cuticura, one cake of Cuticura Soap, one bottle of Cuticura Resolvent, and have had since a smooth, soft skin as any one. I had been troubled for about four years with what the doctors called eczems. I was troubled mostly on my wrists, shoulders and ankles by first a large welt rising, afterward a burning, itching sensation, that I could not scratch hard W. E.
